FOR 36 YEARS
this newspaper has been devoted to the welfare of Sierra Madre. It is home owned and has no other interest.

Seek Fathers As Members Of The PTA

Membership Drive Aimed Principally At Men—Room Prizes Offered

While the Parent Teachers Association may heretofore have been considered a woman's organization, Sierra Madre is stepping out to enlist the interest, participation and cooperation of fathers. The local PTA this week sent out a call to men of the village to join their group, assist in accomplishing a successful Football Circus drive, give an added impetus to the Halloween carnival and sponsor some stunt of their own during the school year.

This year the membership drive will be directed toward fathers as well as mothers or other relatives. One 50 cent membership assures 25 cents for the local organization, and also takes care of national and state membership, as well as membership in the Pasadena council. In this way financial support is given for conventions, conferences and general office expenses.

Membership quota for the year has been set at 350, 45 in excess of last year. Two $4 prizes will be given at the school, where classes have been divided into two groups, kindergarten through 4th grade and 5th through 8th grade. The prize will go to the room in each division which secures the largest number of members.

Tickets are going well for the Football Circus scheduled for Tuesday, October 7, at the Pasadena Rose Bowl. This show will include ten football teams and the famous Bulldog band. Tickets may be purchased from children or at a number of local stores. The quota for ticket sale here is 550, entire amount to remain with the local P.T.A. for philanthropic work.

Since the opening of school there has been a relatively good response to P.T.A. activities. A large group of mothers attended the room tea held Friday afternoon at the grammar school. On Tuesday several members attended the first neighborhood study group conducted at Wilson Junior High School by Dr. Gertrude Laws. These classes will continue each Tuesday at 1 o'clock through November 4. Several members were also present at the first district conference and school of instruction held Thursday at Long Beach.

Another Gypsy Trip Planned By Carter

Although he arrived home only recently from a month's jaunt through the Northern States, Arthur N. Carter is already laying plans for a trip to Arizona and New Mexico in his "Gypsy Wagon."

Accompanied by his daughter, Anetta Carter, and his sister, Mrs. A. Florence Mead, he went as far North as Cameron Lake, Canada. They drove the Redwood Highway and the Columbia River Highway, visited Yellowstone National Park, Logan Pass, and Glacier National Park, where they camped and fished.

Miss Carter made an extensive collection of flower specimens for the University of California at Berkeley, and they brought home with them many interesting pictures.

Editor Of A Noted Magazine To Talk To Arts Guilders

EDITOR OF ARTS magazine, Elmer Brown Mason, will be guest speaker at the Arts Guild meeting on October 3. He is a former editor of Vanity Fair, an ex-advertising man, and a collector of first editions.

The talk will last approximately a half hour, during which he will tell what a first edition is and how to recognize one; why some are valuable and others are not, and relate a number of anecdotes about collecting. He will also exhibit some editions he collected locally. He resides nearby, in Pasadena, and contributes to numerous national magazines.

Woman's Club Plans Pioneer Festival

The Sierra Madre Woman's Club is planning a pioneer festival to be given at the club house on October 11. The festival, which will begin at noon and last through the evening, will feature many and varied forms of entertainment. Dinner will be served at 6 p.m. and will be followed by an evening of dancing.

Sierra Madre Girl Escapes Death On Torpedoed Ship

First word to arrive from their daughter, Mrs. Peter Johansen in several weeks, came Tuesday from Ras Ghareb, Egypt, to Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wammock of 251 Santa Anita court.

The letter came air mail at a cost of $2.50. It was mailed August 11, and left the censor's office at Cairo, August 21. Sometime earlier in the summer Mrs. Johansen narrowly escaped injury or death on a liner which was bombed in the Suez Canal. At the request of Mr. Johansen's employers she was scheduled to leave on the boat which was bound for So. Africa, taking women and children out of the war zone. The ship was torpedoed and sunk. However her appeal to be permitted to remain with Mr. Johansen was accepted and her passage on the line was cancelled. According to Mrs. Johansen scores of passengers were killed, burned or drowned.

Landmark Is Bought By Nazarenes

First Congregational Church Here To Undergo Improvements

One of Sierra Madre's oldest buildings, the old Congregational Church on West Sierra Madre Blvd., will go into the hands of new owners shortly as escrow proceedings for the sale of the building to the Nazarene Church were begun this week.

The church was the second built in Sierra Madre and was completed in 1890. It was occupied by the Congregationalists until 1927 when the new church was built on the east side of Sierra Madre Blvd.

Rev. John Wesley Hall, pastor of the Nazarene Church, could not be reached for information of plans for improving the property.

Only Two Ask For Vacant Police Job

Only two applications have been received for the part time work with the Sierra Madre police department which recently became available through the leave of absence granted to Arthur Johnson, and the advancement of Fred Lewis to the status of a full time employee, according to Chief of Police Gordon McMillan.

McMillan has put the force on a vacation basis with Ralph Twedell acting as special officer. He will present his recommendation for a permanent officer to the city council Tuesday evening. Officer Johnson's leave of absence became effective Wednesday, and before the middle of one month he will begin engineering work for one of the nation's largest engineering companies, now engaged in building docks at San Pedro.

Enrollment At Schools May Drop

Final Figures Withheld Until Vacation Season Is Ended

Opportunities for young men and women in defense industries is responsible for the slight drop in registration at Pasadena Junior College, according to information received from the registrar's office, where enrollment for upper division classes will close next week. Until all registration is completed no figures as to the actual number of students will be available, but the number is expected to be below that of last year.

At Wilson where registration figures will not be released until the middle of November, the approximate number of Sierra Madre students was set at 223 by George Boone, principal.

Students at the grammar school now number 460 and registration is continuing. St. Rita's School this year saw an increased enrollment, 110 children are now in class, while others are enrolling almost daily.

Torch Of Liberty—America's Uncontrolled Press

PRESIDENT CALLS ON PEOPLE TO REALIZE IMPORTANCE OF NEWSPAPER WEEK

In addition to proclamations issued by Governor Olson and the governors of 47 other states, President Roosevelt offered the following salute to Newspaper Week, October 1 to 8:

By PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

The White House Washington: August 30, 1941

The recurrence of National Newspaper Week should awaken in the hearts and souls of all Americans a renewed determination to defend and maintain and perpetuate the priceless heritage of a free press.

The maintenance of an unfettered press, informed by truth and guided by courage and conscience and whole hearted devotion to the public welfare, is a fundamental obligation of patriotism. I trust as a result of the forthcoming observance that Americans everywhere will have a renewed sense of the incalculable blessing which a free press confers. It must be maintained against all assaults.

Very sincerely yours,
(Signed) FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

LEE SHIPPEY TELLS DUTIES AND PLEASURES OF THE HOMETOWN NEWSPAPER

By LEE SHIPPEY
AUTHOR, COLUMNIST AND EDITOR

When we are born it is the local newspaper's duty—and its pleasure—to announce the glad tidings. When we go to school and win an essay contest or a football game the local paper tells about it. When we are graduated the local paper lets people know of our achievement. If we get into schoolboy pranks and get arrested, the local paper overlooks it unless the public interest demands some mention of it, and even then treats the matter as gently as possible.

When we marry the local paper congratulates us and wishes us well. If any business or personal distinction comes to us the local paper gladly boasts about it. If we engage in any effort for the good of our town, the local paper helps us with publicity.

From the cradle to grave it does its best to serve us and the community. And yet some of us take all that for granted and do not realize that our standing in the community somewhat depends on that unfailing friend.

Some of us fail to support the local paper in its efforts for us and the community, and then complain because it doesn't accomplish as much as it could with our cooperation.

A LETTER TO MR. LINDBERGH

By HARLAN WARE
NOTED SHORT-STORY WRITER

Dear Charles:

Well, it's National Newspaper Week here in America, Charles. It isn't National Newspaper Week in any of the Axis countries, nor in England where they're too busy: just here, Charles. We're calling attention to the fact that we still have newspapers in which editors can print the truth as they see it—a rather splendid thing when you stop to think about it and it's high time you did.

Our newspapers were a little rough on you, Charles. I'll grant

Womans Club Begins An Interesting Lecture Series

Dr. Carlton Rodee, professor of Political Science at the University of Southern California, will deliver a lecture at the 11 o'clock meeting of the Sierra Madre Woman's Club on Wednesday, October 8.

Dr. Rodee, who has visited and made a careful study of the theories and operations of foreign governments, including Russia, Germany, Italy, England and France, will speak on "Democracy vs. Totalitarianism." This is the first in a series of six lectures under the general heading, "Developing Democracy's Destiny."

Luncheon will be served in the dining hall at 1 p.m. and will be followed by book reviews at 1:45. Non-members may attend the lecture and luncheon by paying an admission fee.

Sierra Madre Men In Oct. Draft Call

Local Board Fails To Secure Postponement For The Local Area

Meeting with only partial success in the attempt to have the induction date of the 17th draft call postponed, local draft board 191 at Monrovia this week prepared to send several men to the induction station on Tuesday, October 7.

Because the call will be divided into two groups only half of the 23 men scheduled for entrance into the Army this month will be called up next week. This group will include no Sierra Madreans, but later in the month several local names are expected to be included in the list of those reporting for duty.

Offer Women Crossing Guard Jobs

Women crossing guards appear to be the answer to the problem of patrolling school crossings here as the Los Angeles Department of Public Assistance has advised several local women that they are eligible for this work. The county has agreed to pay 40 cents an hour for a five-hour day through the school week. However applicants for the work must have received assistance from the county during July and August.

First woman to undertake crossing guard work here is Mrs. Olinda Fraccaroli, who has been guiding children across the street at Grand View and Baldwin avenue since Monday.

Other women who are eligible for the work are asked by Chief of Police Gordon McMillan to contact his office.

Human Relations To Be Discussed At Lecture Series

McKinley Junior High School P.T.A. is announcing a series of six lectures to be given by Mary Blair Wallace in the McKinley Junior High School Auditorium Thursdays at 10:30 a.m., October 16, through November 27.

Mrs. Wallace has an established background as a lecturer and consultant in the field of human relations. Her lecture topics will include "What It Means to Grow Up," "Boy and Girl Relationships," "Growing Up versus Growing Old," and "Specific Cases from Current Junior and Senior High Situations Discussed and Evaluated." A question period follows each lecture.

Sierra Madre Girl Married, To Make Home In Hollywood

Following their return from an extended trip along the Pacific Coast, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph G. Ponedel are at home to their friends at 1319 North Fairfax avenue, Hollywood.

Mrs. Ponedel, who before her marriage late in August, was Miss Charlotte Keltz, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Keltz, formerly of this city. She attended grammar school here, graduated from Wilson Junior High school and attended Pasadena Junior College. The marriage was one of the late summer social events, and was performed at the Beverly Hills Hotel.

Prepare For Expansion Of City To Include Huge Hastings Ranch

Increased Water Supply Looks To Subdivision Of Big Estate

Seeking to keep Sierra Madre's fire insurance rate at its present low level, and looking into the future to the time when expansion of the city may call for a more abundant water supply, city water superintendent William Schwartz has advised drilling a new well at the central pumping plant.

Specifications and recommendations for the well have been submitted to the city council by J. Ralph Shoemaker, and have been referred to the committee of the whole for consideration. A report on the proposal is expected at the council meeting Tuesday evening.

While both wells at the central pumping plant are apparently in good condition and are at the highest level on record, some deterioration in the casing of well no. 1 is to be expected, according to Schwartz, as it was drilled in 1906. The No. 2 well was completed in 1915. Water level in both wells is now around 154 feet, but during years of drought it has gone down to 8 feet.

According to Schwartz the abundant supply of available water is largely responsible for the low fire insurance rate enjoyed by Sierra Madreans, and any damage to either of the present wells would materially effect property owners.

Future possible subdivision of the Hastings Ranch at the east end of town has also been advanced as another reason for increasing the available water. Should the ranch be subdivided there is every indication that an attempt will be made to extend the city limits as far as Sierra Madre Villa.

Success of this project would depend largely on whether the city would be able to furnish the new subdivision with water.

SIERRA MADRE TEMPERATURES VARY WIDELY BETWEEN UPPER AND LOWER CITY LIMITS

But Summer Stages A Real Comeback In The Whole Foothill Area

Interesting variance in temperatures between the upper city limits at the edge of the Angelus forest and the center of town is evidenced by a comparison of readings taken at the Central pumping station and at the home of Paul Carter on Mt. Wilson Trail.

The Federal weather bureau station was transferred in July from the estate of Col. H. B. Hersey, on Hermosa avenue, to the Carter property, where altitude and weather conditions are similar. This change was necessary because Col. Hersey, who has carried on a splendid service since his retirement from government service, wished to be relieved of the responsibility.

In addition to this weather recording equipment the Los Angeles County flood control district has installed a self-recording rain gauge which registers the beginning and end of a storm, the amount and intensity of rainfall.

This week's comparative readings show warmer weather in the higher city altitude where the mercury has gone from two to six degrees higher each day.

The usual warm fall weather appears to have skipped September and is carrying over into October as temperatures have climbed steadily during the last few days, with indication that more heat is in prospect.

At the Central pumping plant readings this week have been:

Planting Expert To Address Salon At Wistaria Gardens

Contributing toward the available information on flowering trees for boulevard, parkway and garden planting, Fred Roenkamp, chief of the forestry division of the Los Angeles park department, will speak at Wistaria Vine Gardens supper salon Sunday evening.

Following his talk there will be a round table discussion of plantings in cities throughout the world, with guests taking part. James Giridlian will conduct the usual short garden forum. Interesting feature of the evening will be a short song recital by Flora Pearl Hoots, member of the Woman's Lyric Club, who will be accompanied by Madeleine Reed at the piano.

Scouts Name Officers For New Year

Nearby Location Selected For Camping Grounds For Area Council

Donald R. Damon was again elected Boy Scout chairman for Sierra Madre at the recent district meeting. Damon was elected by unanimous vote as were Frank Spencer, vice chairman, and Thomas A. Reynolds, secretary. Additional members elected to the committee were Donald Tarr, Harry Caskey and Fire Chief William D. Richards.

Appointments made by the chairman for the coming year are Dr. John L. Woehler, director of finance; Thomas A. Reynolds, advancements and awards; Donald Tarr, camping and activities; Ben Mobley, organization and extension; E. A. Davey, leadership and training; W. D. Richards, health and safety; William A. Kinney, Harry Caskey and Rev. Frederic Grootsema, members-at-large.

Autumn Court of Honor for boys from both Sierra Madre troops will be held Monday evening, October 6, at 7:30 at the Congregational church.

On Sunday William Kinney, camping director for the Pasadena-San Gabriel council accompanied by other members of the camping committee, visited the new Boy Scout Camp site in San Antonio Canyon which will replace the High Sierra Blue Ridge Camp. The group surveyed the site, conferred with rangers and made plans for clearing the ground in preparation for building. This work will be carried on by a committee working under the direction of Skipper Robinson, commander of the Pasadena-San Gabriel Valley Sea Scouts.

This new location is adjacent to the Sierra Hiking Club and the Maybelle Scott School for Girls.

Downtown Building Being Modernized; Home Underway

Another improvement in the downtown section began this week when Harry Barrington began to remodel the front of his building at 12 North Baldwin avenue. When completed the building will present a modern appearance.

Construction of another new home here was started this week for Mr. and Mrs. Fred LaLone at 455 East Montecito. It will be of frame and stucco construction and will have six rooms.

Honors For Three Local PJC Graduates

Roger Wood, James Sakamoto and Margaret Cox were awarded memberships last week, in Sigma Zeta Psi, honor fraternity in Pasadena Junior College.

The fraternity is composed of graduating students who have been outstanding in service, creative expression and scholarship, and who carry at least a C plus average in junior college subjects.

Prominent Woman's Leader Dies In L. A. Sanitarium

Following a month's illness, Miss Sue Brobst, 65, prominent California Club woman and until recently a resident of Sierra Madre, passed away Friday at a Los Angeles Sanitarium.

Miss Brobst was born in Chicago, but came to California 35 years ago. For approximately 10 years she made her home here. She was affiliated with more than 20 state and national clubs, was well known for her part in the Los Angeles Women's City Club, and the Women's Athletic Club and was first president of the Business Women's Legislative Council which she helped organize.

Final Festivities At Barlow Estate

Perhaps for the last time, the beautiful home of Mrs. W. Jarvis Barlow will be opened to Sierra Madreans and their friend Friday evening for the benefit dinner dance which will be given by the women's guilds of the Church of the Ascension.

Fires will be laid in the library and dining room and there will be excellent dinner music. For the evening Richard Welles is providing latest dance recordings.

Dinner service will begin at 6, while the evening will include both dancing and various card games with table prizes. Women in charge of the affair are Mrs. Mary Goodfellow, Miss Marian Vannier, Miss Daisy Hawks, Mrs. Frederick Holly, Mrs. Hall Perry and Mrs. Randolph Wood.

Musicians Hail A Young Artist At Wistaria Gardens

A personality of much charm, and a voice which gives promise of future distinction, contributed largely to the success of the concert given by Bette Kelly, pupil of Mrs. Grace McCarty, at Wistaria Vine Gardens Friday evening.

Wearing a simple frock, this unassuming young artist presented an ambitious program with artistic finesse. Her native sincerity and intelligent musicianship won many friends from the large number of musicians in the audience.

Miss Kelly was at her best when singing the Jewel Song from Faust; Les Filles De Cadix, Delibes; and Depuis Je Jour, from Louise. Her English diction is excellent and her gift for light opera was evidenced in encore numbers.

Willard Ganther accompanying at the piano gave Miss Kelly splendid support, and pleased with his solo numbers.

Missionaries From Mountains Speak At Bethany Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. McDonald will be the morning speakers for the Women's Missionary Society at its October 7 meeting at 10 a.m. in Bethany Church. Mr. and Mrs. McDonald are missionaries in the mountains of Virginia and Tennessee and will relate many interesting stories of life among the peoples of the South.

A pot-luck luncheon will be served at noon and will be followed at 1:20 with talks by Mr. and Mrs. Otis Leal, who have worked in Mexico City under the auspices of the Pioneer Missionary Agency. Everyone is invited to attend the meeting and luncheon.

Miss Nellie Flynn returned Tuesday to her home at 52 Victoria lane from a three months tour of the middle west. During her vacation Miss Flynn visited relatives and friends in Illinois and Indiana.

As It Appears
To me

While the life of a crusader is admittedly hard it appears to me that it is about time for someone to have the anticipated dangers and begin a consistent campaign for redecoration of the city hall and the installation of adequate lighting fixtures.

There is legitimate economy, and economy which is both stupid and extravagant. Enforced economies are of necessity justified, but when the building which houses all the administrative offices of the city reaches a point bordering on interior delapidation, it seems reasonable to expect something to be done about

YOUR HOME AND MINE

BY ANNE WILSON

It is nice to have a change now and then from our old pie favorites such as apple and cherry. On a special occasion or to add an extra touch to an everyday meal, a "fancy" pie is desirable. An unusual pie that comes out with a cake on top and a pineapple custard underneath is the following:

Pineapple Sponge Pie
1½ tablespoons flour
1 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
2 eggs, separated
¾ cup milk
¾ cup drained, crushed pineapple
Sift flour, sugar and salt. Cream butter and cream in dry ingredients. Add beaten egg yolks and mix thoroughly. Stir in milk and pineapple and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a well chilled, unbaked pie crust. Bake at 450 deg. for six to eight minutes to set the crust, then reduce temperature to 325 deg. and continue baking until the filling is firm on top.

The success of this pie is in the baking. An electric range bakes it perfectly, for its oven heat stays reliable at any point to which it is set. It gives the proper hot temperature needed to start the pie, then reduces properly to the lower heat to finish the baking. Heat that is reliably accurate is a help in all kinds of baking, and electric range users have this valuable assistance in producing perfect baking results.

Our city hall was built in 1927 at a cost of $24,000. It has never been completely redecorated. Any $24,000 investment should merit adequate maintenance, and to my mind that includes care of the interior as well as the exterior of a building.

Sometime this fall, our city will again take part in National Art Week. Last year many fine paintings were hung in the council chamber, which is probably the shabbiest room of its kind in this district. Shall we give the artists a better break this year or will we again expect them to be enthusiastic over hanging some of their best work in a room where the floors, walls and ceilings are deplorably and extravagantly dirty?

Another downtown improvement which is on the mind of at least one of our established and respected citizens, calls for a drinking spot for dogs. It might be interesting to have a few expressions which we could print in the column.

As the national emergency becomes more acute and the continued battles now raging in both Europe and Asia more terrifying, the routine work in every Red Cross Chapter increases. Stopping in at local Red Cross headquarters today I learned of dependency discharge investigations, through which information is gained of the actual family conditions of men requesting release from military service. This work calls for much tact, complete cooperation between the Red Cross and local draft boards, and many hours of additional work. The Red Cross is also filing inquiries for people seeking to locate relatives in war zones, and is carrying on a heavier home service program in addition to war relief production and regular work within the community. This means that those of us who have even a few hours which are not accounted for, must help in some way.

There is often much personal gratification in knowing that you are not just standing on the side lines, but actively participating in today's events, and this can be achieved by taking part in at least one of the many current Red Cross projects.

The.... Watch Tower

By Perley Poore Sheehan

WE like that story—a classic from the Chinese—about the Monkey and the King of Hell. The King told the Monkey he could have one wish. "O King," the Monkey said, "my wish is this: that at my next rebirth I be born a man." "Very well," the King replied; "but in that case we'll have to get rid of your fur." And he motioned to an imp. The imp had hardly begun to pluck out hairs before the Monkey howled—he couldn't stand such pain. The King waived the imp away. "So you can't stand such pain," he said to the Monkey softly; "and still you thought you could be a man!" The story came back to us—not once but often—while we were reading Joy Homer's new book, Dawn Watch in China, which has just come to the Sierra Madre Public Library.

A GREAT BOOK, about a great people, in a great epoch of human evolution; and written—we devoutly felt all the time we were reading the book—by a great woman. Not because, even partly, the author was a daughter of that distinguished pair, Louise Homer and her song-writing husband. (In the midst of China, its vortex of pain, Joy Homer was to hear an American-educated Chinaman sing several of her father's songs.) But here was a girl, gently and even luxuriously reared in the United States, surrendering all claims to ease, to safety, and even to the high emotional and spiritual flights of a honeymoon—surrendering these because of this greater claim. As if she'd also had a vision: "Come over into Macedonia and help us!"

SHE went to China in 1938, as reporter for the American relief boards. Where she chose at once—as instinctively, it appears, as a bird takes to the air—the right way to tackle her job; which is to say, the hard way. The plunge at once into the thick of it all. China starving, struggling, bloody and diseased, robbed, ravished, drugged and bombed. We'll let you read the book for the details. They're all there, presented with a clarity, with an unsentimental tenderness, and also with a humor, such as Mark Twain—in his best years—might have envied and admired; presented with a fearless honesty, also, that keeps the book from being lop-sided; but above all, with a sort of happiness—that any nation, under God, could so stand pain and still show itself to be so humanly divine. That for the book. You read it.

BEFORE we go on, however, something in this connection from Carlyle—his Heroes and Hero-worship. We looked it up and found what we were looking for. This is it: "But now if all things whatsoever that we look upon are emblems to us of the highest God, I add that more so than any of them is man such an emblem. You have heard of St. Chrysostom's celebrated saying in reference to the Shekinah, or ark of testimony, visible revelation with God, among the Hebrews: 'The true Shekinah is man!' ... There is but one temple in the universe," says the devout Novalis, "and that is the body of man." ... A reflection called up by an allusion in this Homer book—one of a thousand such;—her allusion to a young Chinese mother with a leg torn off trying to nurse her baby.

BRINGING to us—we'll confess it—a feeling very like remorse, similar to shame; making us to feel as if we'd been that priest or that Levite who looked and passed by on the other side. Baseball, football, and the cheering millions! No use talking any more about the oil and the scrap-iron that went to Japan and is still being used to tear these Chinese mothers and children to pieces. That part of "business as usual" seems to be ended—except for such karmic exactions (God help us) as time may reveal. But the point is this: Can any good American really still want Uncle Sam to play the part of priest or Levite instead of the good Samaritan?

MORE in that old Chinese story of the Monkey and the King of Hell than might at first appear. A story involving Eternal Truth; and, as such, with facets reflecting all of the spiritual summits—shining in the Sun above, our darkened plain; the summits of all true martyrdom; Christian or otherwise. Martyrdom as Initiation—Initiation recurrent and unending—the only Pilgrim's Progress for nations as well as for All That Is—meaning you yourself, your bush and your dog and all of us. Through this agony, this National Crucifixion, this supreme Initiation, China is coming into new greatness. But how about America? Jesus said: "It is impossible but that offenses will come; but woe unto him through whom they come!" ... And the apostles said unto the Lord, "Increase our faith."

UNCENSORED

By LEONE BAXTER

A favorite hometown institution that everybody has a hand in and helps to build is disclosed today as the nation's Number 1 Vital Defense Industry.

That is the local newspaper. Just off-hand, one doesn't think of the hometown press as a key piece of democracy's defense equipment. But it is. And the whole nation pays its tribute during the specially designated "National Newspaper Week"—this year, October 1 to 8.

Official proclamations already have been issued from Washington reminding the nation of the important functions of the press in peace time and in war. The Governors of 48 States have commended the work of the press in the present emergency.

But the newspaper is such a familiar piece of household equipment, sparkling or homely as the case may be, that its tremendous significance in the preservation of democracy is overlooked by the casual, average reader. Its function in national defense, though, paints a telling picture of responsibility shouldered and duty fulfilled.

If newspapers had not taken on the task of explaining in detail again and again the provisions of the Selective Service Act; the Army probably would still be trying to get the first draft quota filled.

If pages on pages of newspaper space were not now being devoted to reiterating the need and pushing the sale of defense bonds and stamps, the program might easily be bogged down long before this.

If newspaper publishers weren't right on tap with their news columns and editorial comment to help organize home defense units, there probably wouldn't be any local defense.

"Democracy's most potent weapon against all-out totalitarian warfare," a California editor has remarked, "is in the most practical sense, all-out truth."

In California the integrity of the press is guaranteed by a battery of more than 700 editors and publishers—thinking different, individual thoughts about politics, government, divorce, war, religion and every other matter on which honest men may disagree. Most of them through years of struggle have earned the right to speak to and for their own communities through the medium of their own newspapers.

The scene is repeated in every State, and it is a healthy one. Nobody is going to step in and take Democracy away from those editors or from America as long as they retain the right to speak in an uncensored, uncensored and ungagged press.

STATE PICNICS

Three states, New York, Washington and Oregon will hold their annual fall picnic reunions, all day Saturday, October 11th, in Sycamore Grove. Each state will have its section of the park and will open county registers.

MARCH OF RIMES

By H. F. NOAKE

AN OLD PIANO

There it stands, in yonder corner, relic of a by-gone day, just a tired old grand piano left to wither, and decay.

Years ago its keys responded to the touch of famous hands, Paderewski, Hoffman, Grainger, others too, from distant lands. Many medals were awarded for its lovely style and tone, once the pride of great musicians, now, deserted and alone. If you happen to be passing, possibly a voice you'll hear, telling of its fame and glory, this time—by an auctioneer.

you that. They made a three-ring circus of a tragic chapter in your life and they dogged you through that hero period. You were a colorful fellow in those days and you reticence was a spur to the boys. It was very sad.

But, you know, I've sometimes wondered if your bitterness toward a press which isn't government controlled led you to admire too much a press that is. Because I've been watching and listening to you with increasing alarm the last year or so. Some of the things you've said scare me, Charles. That last one in Des Moines... ah, my: that was pretty bad. You were in America. You were speaking in English. It was shocking, Charles.

I know no intelligent men of good will who are not opposed to Hitler and the Nazis. No intelligent men of good will who do not passionately hope for England's survival. I know many intelligent men of good will who are afraid we will—as others have—wait too long to hurl our full strength against the most frightful tyrant the world has ever seen.

I haven't heard you express a distaste for Mr. Hitler's new dark age which is to last, he hopes, a thousand years. Aren't you a man of good will, Charles? Or aren't you intelligent? Or have you allowed your bitterness to blind you to the shameful facts?

It can't be—I can't bring myself to believe that you really admire the Nazis. It must be that you hate an uncontrolled press. You baffle me, Charles.

As I say, it's National Newspaper Week again. Forgive them, Charles. Forgive them—and see if that won't clear things up for you.

WE THE PEOPLE DEPEND ON FREEDOM OF THE PRESS FOR LIBERTIES WE ENJOY

By PERLEY POORE SHEEHAN

AUTHOR, EDITOR AND SCENARIO WRITER

WE THE PEOPLE—A great phrase in the history of any nation. One that might be put at the masthead of any newspaper—this week and every week. For no newspaper can long exist—the Press itself, as an institution, cannot exist—where that phrase has lost its meaning. A sort of Godlike Trinity of words—the Source, the Incarnation, and the Eternal Agent—of the only Divine Right this planet will ever know—short of the Almighty's very own. And however feeble, or inarticulate, or wrong—or, in other words, no matter how human—it may sound at times, the one authentic voice of this Right Divine—is that of the Printing Press.

True here in Sierra Madre. True everywhere. For it's equally true that no publication, however richly subsidized, can live or ever has lived long when faithless to the People.

No newspapers, worthy of the name, have ever survived where WE THE PEOPLE have surrendered our Divine Right to the keeping of another. The Press, the People, and the Truth, have given us—and the world—America; they have become the Light and Hope of the World.

WE THE PEOPLE OF SIERRA MADRE join in this national homage of Newspaper Week. Long live our own—THE SIERRA MADRE NEWS!

ALL AMERICAN LIBERTIES HELD DUE TO THE FREEDOM OF THEIR PRESS

By HAROLD D. CAREW

AUTHOR, EDITOR AND COLUMNIST

We stand on historic ground when we approach the company of the men who throughout the centuries have defended freedom of the press. The observance of Newspaper Week in California is a fitting time to recall their service to liberty and democracy.

Socrates dead and Galileo in prison paid the penalty for defending Truth. John Milton's glorious "Areopagitica" was his answer to the would-be dictators of his day who sought to impose censorship: "And though all the winds of doctrine were let loose to play upon the earth, so Truth be in the field, we do injuriously, by licensing and prohibiting, misdirect her strength. To her and falsehood grapple. Whoever knew Truth put to the worse in a free and open encounter? ... Give me the liberty to know, to utter, and to argue freely according to conscience, above all liberties."

A free press is the enemy of autocrats, demagogues and dictators. "Three hostile newspapers are more to be feared than a thousand bayonets," said Napoleon, who suppressed the newspapers of Paris that would not do his bidding.

Lord Falkland, in a speech in the Mother of Parliaments in 1633, said there were three estates of the realm: the Lords Spiritual, the Lords Temporal, and the Commons. Two centuries later Lord Macaulay said that while there may be Three Estates in Parliament, the gallery in which the newspaper reporters sat had become the Fourth Estate, and it was the most powerful of all.

"No government ought to be without a censor," said Thomas Jefferson; "and where the press is free none ever will ... When the press is free and very man is able to read, all is safe."

William Ellery Channing, the great Unitarian preacher, said more than a hundred years ago that the American people must defend the freedom of the press at all costs. "Freedom of opinion, of speech and of the press," he said, "is our most valuable privilege, the very soul of republican institutions, the safeguard of all other rights. We may learn its value if we reflect that there is nothing which tyrants so much dread."

"Newspapers are the schoolmasters of the common people," said Henry Ward Beecher. "That endless book, the newspaper, is our national glory." But it will be our national glory only so long as the man who conducts it is unfettered and able to speak his mind freely, even though his opinion be not public opinion.

In an address to the American Society of Newspaper Editors in 1915, Calvin Coolidge said: "Wherever the cause of liberty is making its way, one of its highest accomplishments is the guarantee of the freedom of the press."

When the lights of Liberty are being extinguished in the world, it behooves Americans to guard well their four freedoms—and above all to keep the freedom of the press inviolable. "There is no true liberty for the individual," says Edwin Markham, "except as he finds it in the liberty of all. There is no true security for the individual except as he finds it in the security of all."

Nearly 140 years ago a small-town newspaper publisher in Massachusetts asked his friend Justice Joseph Story of the United States Supreme Court to prepare a motto for the Salem Register. Story complied, and at the masthead of that "country weekly" was placed a dedication which ever since has epitomized the spirit of American newspaper publishers:

Here shall the Press the People's right maintain,
Unawed by influence and unbribed by gain;
Here patriot Truth her glorious precepts draw,
Pledged to Religion, Liberty and Law.

The boys, it seems, are at it again down Hollywood way. The scene was the Mocambo, where the "cover charge" is high enough to cover most anything. The cast included Jimmy Fidler, still rosy from the spotlight of the cinema side-show in the senate, and Errol Flynn, the movie hero. The plot, it appears, was a bit uncertain, both as to beginning and end, but included such diverse items as a fork, a bloody ear, and a lawsuit. Hollywood, in 1941 as in any other year, just will be Hollywood.

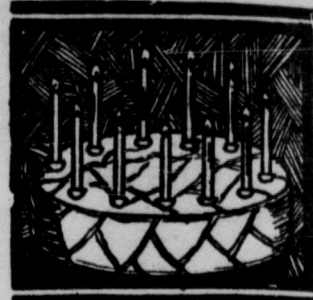

With the ease of a champion at superlatives, America has just registered a sparkling array of records. The employment figures for July, as released by the Department of Labor, contain these revealing notes: an employment index of 130.5 per cent of the 1923-25 average, a payroll index of 152.5 per cent, and total employment of 39,240,000—each in an all-time record. Whatever America does she seems to do in superlative fashion. When the trend was down, America slipped deeper than all the rest. On the upward move, she sweeps to new heights untouched by other nations. There's a thrill in that fact for every American, and a lesson for those who would match America in warships and cannon.

At least one laugh has been inserted into the seriousness of the current strike against several of San Francisco's leading hotels. On picket before the Hotel Mark Hopkins, the union men and women came up with a new idea. Inside, despite picket lines, the city's elite were staging a Junior League fashion show. Outside, as a counter attraction, the pickets put on parade a Junior Labor fashion show, featuring last year's fashions as a complement, in the words of the pickets, to last year's wages. Laughs have their place, in serious as in casual moments, yet the last laugh in every defense-delaying strike, goes to Germany's Herr Hitler.

These are the days of dry fields and tinder-box woods, the dangerous days of autumn when the fire hazard rides with every careless smoker. The reality of the danger is as present as the news of the day. A single day of the past week saw 26 brush fires in the Bay area, major blazes near Nevada City and Copperopolis, and 35 separate fires in the Coast Range between San Luis Obispo and Eureka. California's fire loss is a monument to carelessness, a million dollar trophy to thoughtlessness. Of every ten California fires this fall, nine will roar into flames from the tiny fires of someone's carelessness. Just 70 years ago next week, the combination of a frisky cow and an unguarded lamp became the great Chicago fire. The combination of careless men and dry forests of careless fires in California this fall, fires less spectacular than the Chicago blaze, but representing losses in timber and watershed far in excess of the burned buildings of the Windy City.

Through the fields of conquered Europe plod the agricultural armies of the new German super-state, armies of conquered men of lesser breed, doomed by the master race to the harvesting of crops and the tilling of the soil. Their work is the harvest, the golden harvest of fall. But the German conquerors are reaping another kind of harvest in these Autumn days of 1941. Through the months of summer and spring they have sown the seeds of hate and fear. With boot and heel, they have ground the seeds of hate deep into the soil of Norway and France, of Holland and Yugoslavia. Today, as the chill of winter settles over the lands of Europe, they are reaping the harvest. Germans die in the streets of Paris. Norway's sons lay down their tools. The masked riders of the Serbian highlands ride again in the long Autumn nights. This is the harvest they reap, the harvest of hate and fear. This is the harvest of 1941, the first crop of the New Order in Europe.

Out of Chicago comes a cheerful word from a group of 5000 scientists and scholars gathered to do honor to the 50th anniversary of the University of Chicago. "Everything," the scientists say in unison, "will be all right." We're certainly in for an era of high taxes, probably followed by a post-war period of unemployment and readjustment. That may sound like trouble to ordin-

CHARLES NAMUR

Charles Namur, 65, of 41 West Mira Monte avenue, passed away suddenly at his home Thursday. He had been employed as a pharmacist with the Owl Drug Co. for 16 years and at the time of his death was employed at one of the Owl stores in Pasadena.

He was born in Sigourney, Ia., came to California 16 years ago and for the last 13 years had made his home here.

He is survived by his sister, Miss Henrietta Namur, and a brother Karl Namur, who also live at 41 West Mira Monte.

Services were conducted at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at the Pasadena Mausoleum, with Dean Arnold G. H. Bode officiating. Soloist was Francis Eakman who sang "Abide With Me." Arrangements were in charge of Grant Chapel.

ROBERT O. THOMPSON

Failing to rally from a heart attack which he suffered Friday at his home, 169 North Lima street, Robert Ord Thompson, former teacher with the Long Beach schools, died Sunday evening.

Shortly before noon Friday, Vernon Udell and Police Chief Gordon McMillan responded to an emergency call from the Thompson residence and administered oxygen to Mr. Thompson until 3:30 in the afternoon when his condition had evidently improved. Later an oxygen tank was brought over from Pasadena but the emergency treatment proved ineffective.

For 10 years Mr. Thompson had been teaching mechanical arts at the Catalina Island School. He was born in Scotland 51 years ago, and 19 years ago came to California from Glendive, Montana.

Mr. Thompson is survived by his widow, Mrs. Alice Thompson; son, Robert David; four brothers, James, Thomas and John Thompson who live in Scotland; David Thompson of Montana; and two sisters, Miss Violet Thompson of Calgary, Alberta, and Miss Lizzy Thompson of Scotland.

Voice Classes Are
School In Monrovia

With the opening of the fall evening high school term at Monrovia-Arcadia-Duarte high school last week classes were resumed for instruction in the correct and natural principles of voice training which constitute good singing.

Mrs. Roy V. Nye will again direct the class study along the same general lines she has made so successful during past seasons. Class instruction is free, under the usual adult high school regulations. Class meets each Wednesday evening from 7:15 until 9:20 in the glee club room of the main high school building at Madison and Colorado avenue, Monrovia.

Mrs. Nye will also continue her direction of the PTA Mothers' Chorus, which will meet Thursday morning from 9:30 to 11:30 at the Ivy Avenue School, Monrovia.

What They Say ---

Sidney M. Ehrman, chairman State Chamber of Commerce tax committee—"In view of the tremendous size of the present tax burden and the prospects of still greater demands for national defense, the necessity for conserving our tax resources becomes increasingly apparent."

Mrs. Nancy McCann, San Francisco dancing instructor, in divorce trial—"I met my husband while teaching dancing. Dancing drew us together and I taught him to dance. And then he danced right out of life."

by Libby Trimble

Slightly Freudian perhaps, but still a good way to keep a clear conscience, was the unique manner in which a local townsman checked up on whether or not someone was in the office early Saturday morning. He waked up, shook himself, reached for the telephone and dialed his own house number. When he heard the busy signal he rolled over and went blissfully to sleep again without a worry on his mind.

An example of what sometimes happens when things are printed exactly as they're sent in to the News office, without the benefit of editing... the following masterpieces are clipped from a mid-western paper: "L. V. Miller of whom we made mention last week as having a growth removed from his nose, and was getting along fine until a week ago yesterday. While in the bank at Hutsenville his nose began bleeding and was given first aid and then taken to the doctor who packed it and got it stopped. About 6:30 it broke loose again and was taken immediately to the clinic, where they succeeded in getting it stopped again and he was kept there until the next afternoon. He was brought home. At 7 o'clock it began bleeding again and was taken right back and again got it stopped. He was brought home Saturday and is now doing as well as could be expected but is very weak from the loss of so much blood" (and so are we).

Or maybe you'll like this one better... "The church and church yard was filled with a large crowd Friday and Saturday night which all enjoyed. A recording was taken of the church Friday night and it was announced over the radio Sunday morning which a lot heard."

Or... "Mr. and Mrs. Ed Butcher and Junior Love, assisted Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Butcher with their butchering on Monday."

At the fair Sunday a very self important and overly officious usher with an exceptionally large hat persisted in standing up directly in front of the crowd and blocking the view of a large number of people directly behind him. Even chanted choruses of "down in front" had no effect on the obstructive individual... but he finally withered when an elderly gentleman selling soft drinks, said, "H—, you can't do anything about him; he owns the fair." Jeers from the crowd failed to move the monster but this jibe from the pop vender did.

In a social way... Dick Hawks, father of the well-known "Stinky" Hawks, breakfasted Monday morning with "Tuffy" Eliason and "Dizzy" Trimble. Due to the fact that he had only two cents, Tuffy and Dizzy bought their own breakfasts.

September being music month, chairman Sylvia Quittner presented a carefully prepared program at the regular meeting of Unit 297, at the home of Mrs. Val Miller on September 25. Guest artist Kathleen Pulling delighted the audience with her rendition of fine selections. Other guests present included Miss Dorothy Small, Mrs. Lee High and Mrs. August Coats, all of whom gave very interesting talks.

Mrs. Imo Koon gave the report of the September District meeting at Azusa, where the District officers were installed. Lucille Pickett, Leila Embree, Ornelia Stinman, Helen Lovejoy and Minnie Stinman attended the past presidents' luncheon at East Pasadena Tuesday.

District meeting October 20 at Wilmar. School of instruction at Patriotic Hall, Los Angeles, October 24 at 10 a.m.

Next meeting of Unit 297 will be held at the home of Grace Koch, 431 Ramona avenue, October 9 at 8 p.m.

Defense is Pretense
without HEALTH

★ You are hearing much, these days, about National Defense. An important consideration is just this: Health is our first defense. No country is stronger than its citizenry. As individuals, it is your duty to get well and to keep well. How is your health? Consult a reputable Physician, if there's need to do so. And we hope, of course, that we may have the privilege of compounding his prescriptions.

Cut Off Pasadena Milk Deliveries On Sundays

While milk dealers in Pasadena have entered into an agreement which would prohibit home delivery of milk in this area Sunday, the Sierra Madre Dairy will continue its former schedule. The step toward curtailment of Sunday milk in Pasadena was taken as a means of conserving gasoline as well as to permit delivery men the regular Sunday holiday.

Harold Keltz Going Into The Navy

Harold Keltz, former resident of this city, was in town yesterday saying goodbye to friends before leaving for service with the Navy. Keltz volunteered three weeks ago and is expected to be called this week. He will enter the Navy with the ranking of a petty officer.

China Relief Drive To End Oct. 15

Subscriptions for United China Relief will continue here until October 15, according to Dr. J. Earl Gossard, who is in charge of the drive. Dr. Gossard reports that $138.54 has been sent to headquarters, as proceeds from the button sale and tea at Wistaria Vine Gardens.

FIRE FLAMES By One of the Boys

Most member of the Sierra Madre fire department visited Pasadena while the smoke-eaters state convention was in progress last week and many were the tales that were told as we gathered for our own meeting Friday evening. If all is true that is told, we have learned that several of our own smoke eaters have been hiding things "under a bushel." Many favorable comments have been heard of the singing ability of Joe Swanson; the "rumpa" (not rumba) dancing of Jim Heasley; how some of our wives can wrestle; how Fred Lewis can auctioneer newspapers; the way that the Chief won great honors for the smoothest waltzer; what a great magician is "Red" Cullum for his disappearing act and many, many other features. The big dance at the wind-up found many local people enjoying the tunes of Don Ricardo's band and by all appearances, happy. It was "feed time" for the Chief Friday and everybody ate heartily. The room was filled to capacity with hungry firemen and still there was food left over, so imagine what a tub full it must have been.

One of the fire trucks has become very unreliable and is now in the shop to be repaired. The cost will be high with no assurance that the truck will be dependable when it is finished. It has been recommended by the fire department that a new one be bought and equipped to replace it.

Jr. Woman's Club To Start New Project

At a meeting of the Sierra Madre Junior Woman's Club Thursday night, the members voted on the introduction of a blanket club into Sierra Madre. The club is open to members of the community and a membership goal of one hundred is set. This is a major project carried on by other Junior Woman's Clubs of Los Angeles county.

Barbara Heasley, president, reported that a total of $46.94 was raised for the United China Relief Fund as a result of the recent sales drive.

Melba Seifert, social chairman, will be in charge of a pot-luck dinner to be given in the near future for the new members who were voted on at the meeting. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by hostesses Althea Butler, Helen Needles and Melba Seifert.

PLAYHOUSE SKYLARK IS A FEMALE BIRD

Mr. Webster calls a skylark a bird noted for its song, which it utters as it rises in almost perpendicular flight, and beside his explanation is a stock drawing of the bird. Mr. Samson Raphaelson's "Skylark" is a female bird of the same general specifications. She wants to soar as she sings but always with an eye on the home nest and her flight is broken by a few landing places for her memory. And, to top the Western definition, the skylark of Raphaelson's comedy, now current at Pasadena Community Playhouse, is a brighter bird from the tailor's viewpoint. "Skylark" concludes its run Saturday, October 11.

First sessions of Marian Lynne's two classes scheduled for the new fall term at Monrovia-Arcadia-Duarte evening high school were held Wednesday. The book review class will meet each Wednesday afternoon from 2:30 to 4:30 at 429 South Mayflower avenue, Monrovia, home of Mrs. Genevieve L. Berry, and the new course, "History of Today" in the evening from 7:15 until 9:20 in the music room of the main high school building, Madison and Colorado avenues.

"History in the Making" is designed to include both lecture and discussion periods. It is the study of peoples and countries of today. The classes are free to all interested adult persons.

Killer Of Ranger Well Known Here Held For Murder

Preliminary hearing on a murder charge lodged against Howard McMillan and his sister-in-law, Margaret Sullivan, who are charged with killing Harmon O. Schwoob, Forest Service assistant protective ranger in Azusa 10 days ago, was held before J. O. Durrell at Azusa Tuesday.

Evidence included testimony by Frank Gompert, ballistics expert of the sheriff's office that the shot which killed Schwoob was fired from a 30-30 rifle found in McMillan's car.

The killing occurred when Schwoob pursued McMillan and Mrs. Sullivan into a blind street in Azusa, following the shooting of a doe in a Federal game refuge in San Gabriel Canyon.

Schwoob was well known in Sierra Madre, having served as assistant to Santa Anita District Ranger Frank Kaye in 1934-35.

PUBLIC NOTICE

As a matter of public interest and economy, Sunday milk deliveries will be discontinued
EFFECTIVE OCTOBER 5, 1941

THIS STEP IS BEING TAKEN FOR A TWO-FOLD PURPOSE:

1. To improve working conditions of the milkmen, who under six-day delivery, will be able to enjoy Sundays with their families at church and in recreation like other folks.
2. To conserve such vital materials as automotive equipment, gasoline, oil and rubber, in the interests of national defense.

The elimination of Sunday milk deliveries, undertaken only after receiving the approval of the Pasadena health department and the endorsement of the Chamber of Commerce and other civic groups, need work no hardship on our customers.

Modern methods of production and processing employed by the undersigned milk companies, coupled with present-day efficient home refrigeration, make it perfectly practicable for the home maker to keep two days' supply of milk on hand.

Milk trucks on Saturdays will carry ample supplies so that everyone may obtain sufficient dairy products for Sunday. Your milkman will leave you a more detailed explanation and a convenient Saturday order blank.

We earnestly solicit your cooperation in this program.
